

SPECIAL TOURS & MORE

Curator's Tours

Thursdays, 2:00-2:45 p.m. Space limited, registration requested 704/337-2098
Free with admission

February 4- Mint Museum of Art

Explore the mystery of Identity Theft: How a Cropsey Became a Gifford with Jon Stuhlman, curator of American Art. Space is limited, registration requested.

March 4- Mint Museum of Art

Step-up and examine The Heights of Fashion: Platform Shoes Then and Now with Charles Mo, director of Fine Art. Space is limited, registration requested.

April 1- Mint Museum of Art

Learn more about North Carolina Pottery: Diversity and Tradition with Brian Gallagher, curator of Decorative Arts. Space is limited, registration requested.

First Fridays

To be held in February, March & April

Details Coming Soon!

Regional Collegiate Art History Symposium

Saturday, March 27, 1:00 p.m. at the Mint Museum of Art

Free with admission

Join us for the 20th Annual Collegiate Art History Symposium. Showcasing undergraduate art history students' research on works of art from the Mint's collections, or the artists represented within these diverse collections. Students from Davidson College, Winthrop University, the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, Central Piedmont Community College, Queens University, University of South Carolina Upstate present papers which are then archived in The Mint Museum Library. Both the program and the reception following are open to the public. For more information call Allison Taylor at 704/337-2032 or by e-mail at allison.taylor@mintmuseum.org.